INTRODUCTION

This report makes available a listing of 16,123 companies required to file annual reports with the Securities and Exchange Commission according to currently available information. The companies are presented alphabetically and by industry classification.

Coverage

The Directory contains listings of companies required to file annual reports under the Securities Exchange Act 1934 as of September 30, 1990. The Directory includes companies with securities listed on national securities exchanges, companies with securities traded over the counter which are registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities Exchange Act, and certain companies required to file pursuant to Section 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act as a result of having securities registered under the Securities Act of 1933. The following groups are excluded:

1. Investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940.
2. Governments and political subdivisions thereof.
3. Issues of voting trust certificates, and stockholders' and bondholders' protective committees.

Companies filing annual reports under a particular provision can be identified by the prefix part of the Docket number: 12(g) companies by 0-; 15(d) companies by 2- or 33- and companies listed on securities exchanged by 1-.

Industry Groupings

The industry groups were based upon the Standard Industrial Classification codes developed by the Office of Management and Budget, Executive Office of the President. The structure of the SEC Industry Code follows that of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual (1987) used for the classification of establishments.

A list detailing the industry groups and comparable Standard Industrial Classification code numbers is presented on Pages III through XII. Users desiring a broader classification of industry groups may refer to the two-digit industry classification titles in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual.

Definition of Reporting Unit

The organization of unit classification consists of the company and all subsidiaries included in the consolidated financial statements submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Basis of Company Classification

In general each company was classified on the basis of its major activity as determined by the product or group of products produced or handled, or services rendered. The major line of activity as reflected by the gross revenues of the company was the principal criterion used in classifying the company. The information used was obtained from the business description supplied by the companies in registration statements and periodic reports filed with the Commission.

The classification of multi-product or multi-industry companies is based upon available information as to the relative importance and significance of individual products or activities in the overall operation of the consolidated enterprise. In cases where such companies have no single line of activity or product which is dominant, the classification may appear to be somewhat subjective.
